Since 1983, APLA Health has been dedicated to ending the HIV/AIDS epidemic in our lifetime.

With eight locations throughout Los Angeles County, we proudly provide vital services to more than 22,000 people each year.

We offer 20 services including medical, dental, and mental healthcare, HIV care, sexual health services, and community programs. For people with HIV, we offer housing support, benefits counseling, home healthcare, and our Vance North Necessities of Life Program food pantry.

A Word from Leadership

This year, as we share our 2024 Annual Report, we are inspired by all that your support has made possible. Over the past twelve months, our organization has grown in extraordinary ways—reaching more people, providing more services, and deepening our impact across the communities we serve.

Building on more than forty years of commitment to health access, we expanded our reach to 22,308 patients and clients across our programs. In our health centers, we delivered over 71,000 medical visits, ensuring that thousands received the high-quality primary care they deserve. Our mental health programs also grew substantially, with more than 1,200 people receiving supportive care that meets their unique needs.

Food security remained central to our mission. The Necessities of Life Program (NOLP) pantry served nearly 2,825 clients this year—distributing more than a million meals to help people with HIV to maintain their health and dignity.

These milestones reflect not just numbers but the stories of individuals who rely on us for lifesaving care, community, and hope. Through our work, we support populations too often left behind in our healthcare system. We are proud to be a trusted resource for so many.

None of this progress would have been possible without the dedication of our staff, the generosity of our supporters, and the resilience of those we serve.

Thank you for standing with us on this journey. Together, we are building a future where healthcare is accessible and grounded in compassion.

Forty Years of AIDS Walk Los Angeles: A Legacy of Strength, Solidarity, and Progress

In 2024, AIDS Walk Los Angeles celebrated its 40th anniversary—marking four decades of unity, purpose, and progress in the fight against HIV and AIDS. What began in 1985 as the world's first walk to raise awareness and funds for HIV has grown into a powerful tradition that continues to uplift, educate, and inspire.

Since the beginning, AIDS Walk Los Angeles has been more than just a fundraiser. It's been a place for people to come together—to honor those lost, support those living with HIV, and stand up for a future where everyone has access to the care and dignity they deserve. This year's theme, "We're Not Walking Back," captured that enduring spirit. It reminded us that even as science advances and treatments improve, we must stay the course and keep pushing for compassion and justice.

APLA Health is proud to lead this historic event. Every step taken at AIDS Walk Los Angeles fuels our mission: ending the HIV epidemic and providing essential health services to the communities most affected by it. The Walk continues to be one of the most visible ways we connect with our community—offering HIV testing, PrEP services, housing assistance, dental care, food support, mental health care, and more.

These programs are not extras. They are lifelines, especially for those facing the greatest barriers to health and wellness. For the more than 22,000 people we serve each year, these services mean real, lasting change—better health, greater stability, and renewed hope.

Looking back, it's striking to remember the urgency and fear that defined the early days of the epidemic. In 1985, AIDS Walk Los Angeles was a bold act of visibility during a time when people living with HIV were often ignored. That bravery laid the foundation for the progress we've made—and the community we've built. Today, while treatment options have improved dramatically, persistent inequalities still determine who has access to those breakthroughs. Poverty and other systemic barriers remain critical factors in how HIV continues to affect people's lives. The Walk, born from crisis, has become a symbol of strength—proof that when people come together with purpose, lasting change is possible.

That's why AIDS Walk Los Angeles still matters. It is a reminder that our progress must be defended and that the fight is not over. It is also a chance for education, especially for younger generations who may not remember the earliest days of the epidemic. Through the Walk, they can learn about the history of HIV activism—and see how that same energy continues to drive change today. This intergenerational connection is part of what makes AIDS Walk Los Angeles so powerful: it honors the past while inspiring the leaders of tomorrow. Held once again in West Hollywood, the 2024 AIDS Walk Los Angeles brought together thousands of individuals—longtime advocates, new participants, families, friends, and co-workers—each with their own story, but united in purpose. From handmade signs to heartfelt conversations, the energy in West Hollywood Park was unmistakable. And just as the crowd gathered at the starting line, the clouds parted—a fitting symbol of hope and renewal. There was music, laughter, moments of quiet remembrance, and powerful calls to action. AIDS Walk Los Angeles reminded us not only of how far we've come, but how far we still must go.

This year, walkers and supporters helped raise an incredible $1.5 million in support of APLA Health's services. These funds directly support our work. We are deeply grateful to everyone who made this year's event such a success—our walkers, sponsors, donors, volunteers, and partners. Whether you joined in memory of someone, in support of a loved one, or simply to be part of something bigger, your presence made a difference. Your participation helped ensure that our message—of compassion, equality, and resilience—reached every corner of Los Angeles and beyond.

At its heart, AIDS Walk Los Angeles is about community. It's about showing up, standing strong, and walking forward—together. For 40 years, you've helped make that possible. And with your continued partnership, we know the path ahead leads to a healthier, more just future for all. AIDS Walk Los Angeles has never been just about the miles walked or the money raised. It's about the stories shared, the lives remembered, and the unwavering belief that everyone deserves to live with dignity and hope. As we look toward the next 40 years, our mission remains as urgent as ever. We are committed to ending the HIV epidemic, breaking down barriers to care, and building a future where health access is not a goal—but a reality. We know the road may be long, but thanks to you, we are not walking it alone. And we are certainly not walking back.

Compassion & Courage: Celebrating the Opening of the Michael Gottlieb Health Center

In 2024, APLA Health marked a defining moment in its history with the opening of the Michael Gottlieb Health Center in the heart of West Hollywood. More than a new facility, the center is a tribute to the legacy of Dr. Michael Gottlieb—an internationally respected physician, researcher, and advocate whose early work helped bring global attention to the HIV/AIDS epidemic and whose decades of service to APLA Health have shaped the organization's enduring mission.

Strategically located in one of the communities most impacted by HIV/AIDS, the Michael Gottlieb Health Center represents a new era of comprehensive care. Designed with a commitment to excellence and accessibility, the center offers a full spectrum of services—from primary and HIV specialty care to behavioral health, PrEP and PEP, dental care, and wellness support. It is a space rooted in dignity, healing, and respect.

Naming the center after Dr. Gottlieb is both a recognition of his extraordinary contributions to medicine and a reflection of his deep and sustained involvement with APLA Health. In addition to his historic work as the physician who first identified the syndrome later known as AIDS, Dr. Gottlieb has served APLA Health as both a member of its board of directors and as a primary care provider until his recent retirement. He played a vital leadership role in advancing APLA Health's clinical services and upholding its mission to provide high-quality care to underserved communities.

Dr. Gottlieb first came to national attention in 1981 when, as a young immunologist at UCLA, he published a report in the Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report documenting an unusual immune deficiency in five previously healthy young men in Los Angeles. This landmark publication marked the first official recognition of what would become the global HIV/AIDS epidemic. At a time when little was known and fear was widespread, Dr. Gottlieb's voice was one of clarity, empathy, and unwavering commitment to the truth.

As the epidemic unfolded, Dr. Gottlieb not only treated thousands of people living with HIV, but also became a vocal advocate for their rights and care. He was among the first to call for federal action and funding, and he co-founded the American Foundation for AIDS Research (amfAR), helping to drive critical research and public education efforts. His patients included well-known figures such as actor Rock Hudson, whose public diagnosis brought national visibility to the crisis. Throughout the 1980s and 1990s, and well into the 21st century, Dr. Gottlieb continued to be a respected clinician, a trusted leader in the medical community, and a passionate advocate for ending the HIV epidemic. His guidance and vision were instrumental in the evolution of APLA Health from a grassroots AIDS service organization into a leading Federally Qualified Health Center that now serves more than 22,000 patients annually.

The Michael Gottlieb Health Center stands not only as a tribute to a pioneering physician but also as a living embodiment of his values. Every aspect of the center—from its commitment to reducing health disparities to its welcoming approach to care—reflects Dr. Gottlieb's lifelong belief that everyone deserves access to compassionate, high-quality health services.

As APLA Health continues to grow and innovate, the opening of this flagship center in West Hollywood marks a powerful continuation of a legacy rooted in science, justice, and humanity. It honors a physician who didn't just witness the beginning of a crisis—he helped change its course. And in doing so, he helped build a future where care, dignity, and community are the foundation of health for all.

Raising the Bar: Leading the Way with $25 Minimum Wage

At APLA Health, caring for people means more than the services we provide in our clinics—it also means investing in the well-being of our staff. In 2024, that commitment reached a new milestone: the implementation of a $25 per hour minimum wage for all employees.

This wasn't a spur-of-the-moment decision. It was the result of a deliberate, three-year initiative launched in early 2021, when APLA Health publicly pledged to become a "pay leader" among Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) in Los Angeles County. That pledge began with a bold move to a $20 minimum wage—well above the industry norm at the time. From there, we built steadily to keep pace with inflation, with wage increases of 9% in 2022, 7% in 2023, and another 7% in 2024.

With the new $25 minimum wage in place, APLA Health now offers wages that not only lead the sector but also arrive three years ahead of planned mandatory statewide increases for healthcare workers. It's a step that reflects our mission and mirrors the needs of our workforce—particularly in a region where the cost of living continues to rise sharply.

"Fair compensation for healthcare workers is paramount, especially with the increasing costs of living in California," said Craig E. Thompson, CEO of APLA Health. "This commitment goes beyond meeting basic living wage standards to provide a sustainable income for all of our employees, recognizing the crucial role they play in delivering vital services."

The impact is significant: nearly one-third of APLA Health's staff members are directly affected by this increase. These include employees in entry-level roles, administrative support, and essential services—individuals who are often the first point of contact for clients and the backbone of our day-to-day operations.

But fair pay is just one piece of the puzzle. Over the past several years, APLA Health has made consistent improvements to its total compensation package. In addition to competitive wages, employees receive comprehensive employer-provided health, vision, and dental insurance, generous vacation and sick leave, personal days, and a 6% match to their 403(b) retirement accounts. These enhancements reflect our belief that those who care for others deserve to be cared for just as thoughtfully.

At its core, this initiative is about dignity, sustainability, and building a workplace where everyone—from physicians to front desk staff—feels valued. It's about setting a standard that others can follow and proving that progress is possible when we lead with purpose. APLA Health has always stood for the health and well-being of the communities it serves—and that includes standing up for the people who make that mission possible.

Toy Box 2024: A Holiday Tradition That Shines Bright

At APLA Health, the spirit of community and compassion shines especially bright during the holiday season. One of our most beloved traditions—Toy Box—embodies that spirit year after year, bringing joy, dignity, and connection to the families we serve.

On December 7, 2024, we hosted the 29th annual Toy Box event at the enchanting Houdini Estate in Laurel Canyon—marking the first time the celebration was held at this iconic location. Against a backdrop of sparkling lights, laughter, and holiday cheer, friends, supporters, and community partners came together to give back and celebrate the season in a truly magical way.

Toy Box was launched in 1995 by former APLA Health Board Chair Dana Miller, alongside Alan Friel and Curt Sharp. Today, it is lovingly produced by Miller's widower, Ryan Black, who carries the tradition forward with heart and flair. Each year, Toy Box collects hundreds of new, unwrapped toys that are distributed to the children of APLA Health clients across Los Angeles. For many families, the holidays can be a stressful time. Toy Box helps ease that burden—not just with gifts, but with moments of joy, affirmation, and care.

The toys collected are delivered to APLA Health's service locations, where staff personally distribute them to families in need. These aren't just transactions—they're moments of connection. For parents, receiving holiday gifts through Toy Box offers relief and dignity. For children, it's a reminder that they are seen, valued, and included in the magic of the season.

This year's Toy Box celebration was filled with festive fun and star-powered charm. Longtime APLA Health supporter Bruce Vilanch stepped into the role of Santa Claus, spreading humor and holiday cheer. By his side was a Joan Crawford-inspired Mrs. Claus, brought to life by acclaimed drag performer Glen Alen, whose wit and vintage glamour had attendees in stitches. Guests sipped seasonal cocktails courtesy of Duvel and Tito's Handmade Vodka, mingled under twinkling lights, and soaked in the warmth of a community coming together for a beautiful cause.

The event's success was made possible by the incredible generosity of our sponsors and donors. HBO and Warner Bros., Mistr, and Mattel—who has donated toys for four years running—were among this year's key supporters. We also thank our 2024 "Santa's Elves," whose contributions helped make this event unforgettable: Alex Gutierrez, Andrew Clark, Chad Franks, Christine Cowan, David Miller and Ryan Murphy, Del Shores, Jeffrey Hobgood, John Squatritto and John Mullican, Lee Klosinski and David R. Cohen, Paul Moore, Richard Klug, Sir Elton John and Mr. David Furnish, Stewart Powell, and Todd Piccus.

Each of these supporters helped ensure that more children experienced the joy of the season—and the reassurance that their community cares.

At its core, Toy Box is about more than toys. It's about creating a space where generosity, celebration, and community intersect. It's a reminder that joy should be for everyone, and that the smallest acts of kindness can leave lasting impressions.

APLA Health extends heartfelt thanks to everyone who made Toy Box 2024 such a success. We look forward to continuing this cherished tradition in 2025—with even more sparkle, celebration, and love.

An Easy Way to Support APLA Health

Support us with a Donor-Advised Fund

A donor-advised fund (DAF) can provide you with immediate tax benefits while making your charitable giving easier for years to come. A DAF is like a charitable investment account for the sole purpose of supporting organizations you care about like APLA Health.

- You make an initial contribution of cash or appreciated assets, such as stocks or mutual funds, and you get an immediate income tax deduction.
- Once established, you recommend which of your preferred charities will receive a one-time or reoccurring grant from the fund.
- Additionally, you can make a deferred gift through the DAF by designating beneficiaries to receive any remaining assets when the fund terminates.

These are trying times for our community. Your gift helps us restore dignity and trust within underserved communities by providing world-class empowering healthcare, HIV care, food, housing, and other essential support services.

If you are interested in establishing a donor-advised fund or discussing ways to support APLA Health with your existing fund, please contact: Ken Mintzer, Director Of Development, (213) 201-1525, kmintzer@aplahealth.org

Legacy Society

Planned giving is the blending of philanthropy and sound financial planning. By making a bequest to APLA Health through a will or trust, naming APLA Health as a beneficiary of a life insurance policy or retirement plan, or creating a life income plan through APLA Health, these donors are forging a lasting legacy that benefits their loved ones and those who depend on APLA Health for services.
